

Who Are the People in Your Neighborhood?

Love them or hate them, you're stuck with your neighbors. Knowing the people who live nearby can ensure the safety of your home, but being a nice neighbor also can be just the right thing to do.

have smiled at their neighbor.

have learned their neighbors' names.

speak to their neighbors frequently.

have gotten their neighbors' mail for them while they were out of town.

have hung out with their next-door neighbors outside of the neighborhood.

have house-sat for them.

Baby Boomers are more likely to know their neighbors than Gen Xers and Millennials.

